Bearcats Meet M.I.A.A. Leaders Tomorrow Eve

Battle with Warrensburg Mules Is Expected to be Outstanding Game of Season

TEAM IS OUT FOR VENGEANCE

The Bearcats will play host to the conference leaders, the Warrensburg Mules, undefeated in loop play, tomorrow night at the local gym in what should be the feature game of the season.

In a previous meeting at Warrensburg, the Mules took the measure of the locals, 46 to 37, but vengeance has been sworn by the Maryville squad. In the words of Jack Saimon, Bearcat freshman forward, "We'll give 'em fits."

In the first game, the inability to stop big Ferd Troutwine caused the 'Cats to trail badly in the first half. However, the statistics show that Warrensburg hit over half of its shots in that half. Maryville cleanly outplayed the Mules in the second half and believe they can do it for a whole game tomorrow night. However, Keth, Schrik, and company are leading conference scorers and must be stopped along with the lanky Troutwine if Coach Stalcup's boys are to get revenge.

Next Tuesday night the Maryville squad will end its schedule when it plays the Rolla Miners in a conference game here. At Rolla the Bearcats easily took the Miners' ore, but expect a harder battle here. The Rolla team has come along in great shape, just recently taking Springfield for a "ride."

Scientist Shows Living Organisms On College Screen

Dr. George Roemmert Gives Illustrated Lecture in Regular Weekly Assembly

Dr. George Roemmert of world-wide scientific fame, thrilled the College audience in the assembly Tuesday morning Feb. 15 with a lecture and pictures of micro-organisms.

Micro means small, and vivarium means place where living things can grow; this defines the apparatus by which the organisms are magnified, Dr. Roemmert stated.

Living Animals Shown

"What I am going to show you has nothing to do with motion pictures but with actual life. You do not see the pictures in the same sense that you see them in a motion picture theater. The actors are not substitutions of life but micro-organisms in full functions of life and are present themselves," the scientist explained.

Dr. Roemmert said that he was showing the pictures through a simple home-made construction and that the larger machines cost thousands of dollars.

The emphasis upon the importance of the magnifying glass and the vital part it played in this delicate work was indicated. The functions and interesting points of most of the one-celled phenomena of the (Continued on page 8)

The play, which was originally written in Spanish and which has been translated into English, was written by Senor and Senora Martinez-Sierra. The scene is laid in a convent and the story concerns the life of a baby girl who was left at the convent door and was raised by the nuns.

Local Chapter Will Substitute "More Civilized" Method of Final Initiation

MOVE BREAKS PRECEDENTS

Gamma chapter of Sigma Mu Delta, social fraternity on the campus, last Wednesday night joined the nation-wide movement among Greek-letter organizations to abolish their annual "Hell Week" activities for pledges.

In so acting, the local chapter threw off its final pledge-week "hazing" to alter the quarterly tradition of the fraternity which has been enacted since the group was organized here in 1930.

Following the action of the fraternity at its regular weekly meeting at the fraternity home, 322 West Seventh street, Earl Holt, president, appointed a committee to plan for some "more civilized" pledge initiation as a final step before entering (Continued on page 8)

Formerly on the faculty of Sullins College, Bristol, Va., she received her B. Bearcats Trounce Hawks for Second Time This Season

Maryville's Airtight Defense Holds Rockhurst to Five Field Goals

For the second time this season, the Bearcats trounced the Rockhurst college team of Kansas City, winning handily 31 to 21 at Kansas City. In the first half the 'Cats defense was airtight and held the Hawks to four free throws to lead at that point 14 to 4.

Shrout, Bearcat center, topped the scorers with nine points before being ejected because of four committed fouls. Personals have caused the lanky Bearcat to be disqualified in several games this year.

In the second half the teams played on even terms with each scoring seventeen points. However, Coach Stalcup kept up a steady stream of substitutions in order to give his young players experience.

This is the last game for the locals until Feb. 18 when they entertain the Warrensburg Mules in what should be the feature game of the season.

HERE'S the DOPE

By Henry Turner

If Warrensburg beats Maryville and Springfield in their next two games of the season they will not only be the winners of the M.I.A.A. title in basketball but they will also be undefeated in the conference. Warrensburg has led the M.I.A.A. in basketball the last two years but both times they were defeated by conference teams. In 1936 Warrensburg lost to both Cape Girardeau and Maryville, and last year they were beaten by Maryville.

Three hard fought ball games were played last Friday and Saturday nights between five of the M.I.A.A. teams. Cape Girardeau managed to nose out Springfield 30-28 after trailing the Bears most of the game.

Warrensburg beat Kirksville 45-39 after they had been tied 37-all two minutes before the game ended. Rolla really upset the "dope bucket" however, when they beat Springfield 29-28 after losing all of their previous conference ball games.

Next year M. I. A. A. basketball players will have two new gymnasiums to play in. Springfield is to have a gym costing $175,000 and Warrensburg will have one costing $165,000. This will be somewhat of a help to the visiting teams as well as the home teams since they have some trouble playing in the old gyms that are now in use.

If Maryville beats Warrensburg and Warrensburg loses to Springfield, the Bearcats and Mules will tie for conference honors. If Maryville beats Warrensburg, but Warrensburg beats Springfield, Warrensburg will win first place in the conference and Maryville second place. but if the Mules come out victorious over the Bearcats, Maryville will then drop to a tie with Cape Girardeau for second place in the conference. Thus these two games will have a great deal to do with the final M.I.A.A. standing.

In the 16 games that have been played, Richard Shrout leads the locals in points scored, field goals, fouls and is second in free throws. Dale Hackett is second in total points scored and first in free throws. The standing of the Bearcats in total points, field goals, free throws, and fouls are as follows:

	TP	FG	FT	F	G
Shrout	99	36	27	42	16

GRADUATE COACHES DEBATE

That Jonan Haskell, a graduate of the College, is a "full fledged" debate coach was expressed in a letter received from her at the College last week. Miss Haskell is a teacher in the Concordia, Mo., public schools.

Her letter, in part, follows:

"I didn't start out to be a debate coach, but I feel like a full fledged coach now. This is my second year and my people have done well each year. I coached a new team this year. They have won four league debates. I now have a new group, mostly freshmen coming along. To the present they have always been seniors.

"I have thirteen or fourteen orators entering the oratorical contest this week, too.

"This is a grand town to teach in, and I like it more each day.

"I shall begin my third term's work on my Master's in sociology this summer. This means that I'll finish in '39."

The Stroller

Never have the M. S. T. C. coeds witnessed such a splendid Valentine's day. (And to one side: "Fellows, it was sweet of you to send them all candy, but did you stop to consider that they probably won't be so attractive for some time to come? At least not until they can diet the excess weight off, for just think how many pounds each pound of chocolates will add.)

But that's o. k., Gooden, those four pounds of valentines should help you to attain that Gibson girl figure that we hear will be in style this year.

And speaking of valentines: It seems that three campus coeds (the smarties.) Betty Lee Jones, Beulah Harman and Gladys Miller, last Monday sent Paisley one of those comic valentines depicting a "tightwad"—and before Paisley could get it from the postman, he had to pay one and one-half cents "postage due." Incidentally, fellows, if you should get a notice from Uncle Sam's P. O. that you have some "postage due" mail, just say to yourself that it's a comic valentine from those three brutesses. We heard that they sent several out "postage due."

Quote from one of the brutesses, G. M., "Bill Bernau used to be 'Wild Bill' but now he is just 'Sweet William'."

Prof: Miss Harrison, did you buy a license this year?

Edwardena: Why-y-y-y, one for my car.

Prof: Um, she only bought one for her sparkin' machine. (Note: A true dialogue.)

Dear Thea:

Here today, and gone tomorrow; that's the way with that Neil fellow. Well, we always heard that he was a mighty fast moving man.

This is not a "black list" issued by the Senate, but we would like to remind the following students that they were in the wrong section during a recent assembly: Dorothy Lasell, Jane Vogt, Marie Holding, Helen Kyle and Mildred Ruth Moore.

What sort of references could "Dickie-Boy" Stephenson have been searching for last week in the College high school reading room?

Of course, we wouldn't mention it again, or even tell it to anyone, but Iola Argo's new "pet" name is "Starchy."

Monday night the juniors defeated the freshmen B team by a score of 17-11. Holding, St. Joseph, captained the juniors while Goddell was acting captain of the freshmen in the absence of Virginia Bosch, Maryville, captain. The score at the end of the first quarter was 0-0, both teams experiencing much difficulty in getting started in scoring. At the half the freshmen led 3-2. During the third quarter the juniors began a scoring streak which gave them a 10-3 lead at the end of this period. However, the freshmen staged a rally in the last quarter, but it was too late and the game ended with the sophomores victorious.

In the second game of Monday night's double header the seniors were defeated by the sophomores by a top-heavy score of 31-13. Betty Jones was high scorer for the sophomores with 10 points, and Dorothy Graham led the senior aggregation with 9 points. The game was fast and rough, calling for hard work on the part of the referee and umpire.

Next Monday night the sophomores will play the juniors in the finals of the tournament in a public game in the College gymnasium at 7:00. An added attraction to the Monday night game will be the appearance of Bill Todd's All Stars who will play the winners of the men's intramural tournament. This will be the first chance for College students to see Todd's All Stars in action at the College, in addition to a fast girls' game. Tickets will sell for 10c and may be purchased from any W.A.A. member.

FRATERNITY BANS "HELL WEEK"

In a news story found elsewhere in this edition of THE NORTHWEST MISSOURIAN is announced the fact that a local social fraternity, Sigma Mu Delta, has cast off its tradition of holding "Hell Week" activities. Press and radio reports concerning the measure adopted by the local fraternity were flashed across the nation over the air waves and the wires of the United Press, and editorial comment has been made both in the press and over the radio.

One radio commentator, in reporting the news over the air, told the complete story of how the fraternity voted to ban the tradition of "Hell Week" activities which had been in vogue since the chapter was established here in 1930 and since the fraternity was organized in Emporia, Kas., in 1921, and completed his remarks with "May we compliment the Maryville fraternity." Other editorial comment has been made by many, including the following remarks made by the editor of The Maryville Daily Forum which appeared in the editorial columns of that newspaper last Saturday evening:

"A local college fraternity has abolished what so aptly has been termed 'hell week.' This period comes just prior to the time the pledge is given the solemn and secret obligations of the order. During 'hell week' the pledge is subjected to many indignities with the avowed purpose on the part of the fraternity of making the prospective fraternity man appreciate his chosen Greek letter organization. Although the upperclassmen, especially the sophomores, will miss a few laughs, the move on the part of the Sigma Mus is to be commended. These lines are written from experiences and several years of reflection on the indignities suffered by a freshman during a week of University of Missouri 'hell week'."

THE SENIOR PLAY

Once each year there comes to the minds of the members of the graduating class the problem of choosing the College Senior Class Play. After several meetings to discuss the proposition of a play for this year, the senior class last week made its selection, choosing Noel Coward's "Hay Fever."

The class threw off more or less of a tradition by choosing to sponsor this comparatively modern play, for in years past it has been the custom of the graduating class to sponsor a dramatic production by the eminent bard, Shakespeare. Members of the class committee to choose a play this year had their choice of sponsoring either a Shakespeare play or one more recently written.

While it is granted that a Shakespearean production can ordinarily not be surpassed in the field of drama, we feel that the class this year made a wise selection in choosing the Coward play. Among the several advantages in producing a modern play over one written in the sixteenth or seventeenth century is the financial consideration. While the royalty on either type of production would be practically the same, the cost of costumes, stage settings and other equipment would no doubt be higher in a Shakespearean drama. And, of course, the class must consider the financial side of such a production.

It is our further opinion that in order to produce a play by Shakespeare to the greatest merit of the production, a group of professional actors who do nothing but practice and produce such dramas is needed. The plays of the incomparable Shakespeare require expert acting to bring out the qualities of the play to their fullest value. On the other hand, a play written for our own day will no doubt come more natural to a group of amateur dramatic performers.

Then there comes the question of whether or not the cast should be made up of members of the senior class. It appears to us that since it is a senior play, seniors should have the opportunity of trying out for the various parts in the production. The dramatics director of the College this year has made it possible for seniors to have an equal chance in trying out for parts in the play by becoming a member of the College O'Neillian dramatics club and by inviting the seniors to thereby try out for the parts they wish to take.

It is hoped that the seniors this year will sponsor, on April 28, an outstanding class play. They will, however, need to "go some" to have a play which will be as well produced as some of the Shakespearean dramas that have been produced by previous classes, despite the handicaps and difficulties they had to overcome.

USE THE WASTE BASKETS

Last week, after a suggestion by the Student Senate, the administration of the College placed about two dozen new metal waste paper baskets in the library. The move was made in order that the library tables might be kept free of litter with the least amount of trouble on the part of students using the library.

This, of course, is most commendable. However, it develops that we have a goodly number of would be "Hank" Luisettis in our midst. Now the odds on a piece of paper thrown from ten or twelve feet hitting a waste paper basket are rather slim. But it develops that we are prone to keep on trying in spite of failure.

All this has done just one thing. It has taken the paper off the tables and strewn it on the floor. It has been the policy of this paper to try to help to make our College bigger and better. We sometimes do not realize the damage we are doing the College and ourselves when we clutter up our buildings with carelessly thrown paper. Certainly no school can rise above the individual tidiness of its students.

In the past the student body has usually shown its cooperation in matters such as this and we feel that this will be no exception.

CAMPUS COMMENT

Next week the Bearcats will wind up their loop games in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association conference. They have, on the whole, had a successful season, and we are expecting to see them down the undefeated Warrensburg Mules, the conference leaders, when they play here tomorrow night. Let's join the big crowd that will witness the game, and help cheer our team on to victory.

Our new student postoffice has been placed in the Book Store. We students should now do our duty by checking at least once each day or two to see if the boxes hold any correspondence for us.

* * * * *

Students here are expected to "hit the books" a little heavier this week-end, for what is just around the corner but final examinations.

Dr. Miller, our former dean, addressed a group of Missouri educators, including some on the faculty here, a short time ago in Jefferson City when a meeting was held there to consider a revision of the state high schools' curriculum.

Sun in my eyes—
An early morning sun
That does not blind,
But lovingly transforms
A darkened world;
Warming, and making every

Renewing golden yesterdays.

My eyes are dim with age.
But I have seen cathedral spires
Shine in the early morning sun,
And even though dark clouds
Gathered and would not melt

I knew the spires above them
Gleamed in hidden sunlight.

My day will come.
It will find me...
Looking up,
The sun in my eyes.

College Uses Lots of Coal in Winter

According to a recent check made on the amount of coal burned in the College heating plant, it was found that 1557.35 tons had been consumed since the last of September.

The greatest amount of coal was burned in October. In this month 462.7 tons were burned. Other months were as follows: November, 360.05 tons; December, 370.75 tons; and January, 363.85 tons.

The amount of coal burned in this winter is considerably less than last winter for the reason the weather has been more mild.

Class Finds Four Can Live Cheaply

Whether or not two can live as cheaply as one may still be a question, but the dietetics class of the College, through a recent study has found it true that four can live on an extremely limited food budget.

Miss Hettie M. Anthony, chairman of the home economics department of the College, presented an actual semi-welfare case to the class as a problem in planning diets on limited incomes. The family studied consisted of a twenty-eight year-old mother and three little girls, 9 months, 3 and 5 years old. Besides an uncertain supply of limited welfare donations, the only source of food was from a $20 per month income, $13 of which was usable for food.

The dietetics class, under the instruction of Miss June Cozine, made a survey of typical food prices in January, and apportioned the food money according to the Gillette formula. Some experiments on cooked quantities versus raw products was made and a chart compiled for reference in listing foods used in menus.

During the laboratory hours, the women tested and devised low cost recipes and menus. The results were quite interesting and no less encouraging. By purchasing chiefly cereal products and economizing on meats, there was money for seasoning vegetables. The baby was allowed one quart of milk daily. The diet which was made out for each day during a thirty-one day month, showed combinations of tasty and nutritious dishes.

In addition to the daily menus, marketing suggestions, storage methods, complete recipe lists and a table of foodstuffs in shares were compiled.

Copies of the twenty-two page study are being made for each member of the class, and several copies will be used by members of the local welfare board.

The members of the class are: Mary Peck, Fairfax; Edith Wilson, Oregon; Carmen Lawrence, Cameron; Arlene Birdsell, Ravenwood; and Gara Williams, Maryville.

IF YOU CAN DO THIS, YOU SHOULDN'T HAVE TO STUDY

Boston, Mass.—(ACP)—A list of study hints for students who are tired of feverishly rushing through belated assignments has been prepared by Prof. Warren T. Powell, head of the department of student counseling at Boston University.

They include:

1. Work under pressure: set a deadline inside of which work must be accomplished.
2. Make yourself rise above petty distractions; when they come, accept them, then go back to your studying without losing your stride.
3. Assume that you are liable for an account of all that you are studying.
4. Maintain an alert questioning attitude and criticize all that you read.
5. Develop habits of positive attack on your studies. Interest seldom comes before effort is made in that subject.
6. Feel an interest in your improvement.
7. Avoid and control emotional disturbances and fatigue.
8. Plan proper length and distribution of study periods, one to two hour units for easy or varied work; and thirty minutes with two or three minute rest periods in between for unfamiliar or difficult work.

ZINC SULPHATE MAY HELP CURE INFANTILE PARALYSIS

San Francisco, Calif.—(ACP)—Two scientists of Stanford University recently said that nasal instillations of zinc sulphate may be the weapon which ultimately will control dreaded infantile paralysis.

The treatment has proved successful in experiments with monkeys, the doctors said. It remains to be seen how it works when transferred to human beings.

The scientists are Dr. E. W. Schultz, professor of bacteriology and experimental pathology, and his associate Dr. L. P. Gebhardt. They have been engaged in a long laboratory fight against poliomyelitis, and the record of the fight, up to now, is one of discouragement and prolonged researches which proved futile.

It was not until they discovered that nasal instillations of zinc sulphate will create resistance to paralysis in monkeys for a period of three months that they began to see success ahead.

This discovery, and its twin, the fact that the disease enters the human body through nerves in the olfactory area, are considered the greatest steps forward in the fight against the most withering scourge of childhood and youth.

NO MORE FEDERAL TAX ON ATHLETIC EVENTS

New Orleans, La.—(ACP)—The United States Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals has held that the federal government has no right to collect the ten per cent admission tax to football games or other athletic events at universities operated by a state.

The case was appealed by the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district of Georgia from a final injunction against collection of the tax granted to the regents of the University System of Georgia who control the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech.

The majority opinion held that the regents of the University System of Georgia formed a constituted department of the State of Georgia and said the tax on those institutions was condemned under the clause which bars Federal government from taxing the State government, or vice versa.

MANY INCLUDED ON C. H. S. HONOR ROLL

Records at the College high school office show that several students have done notable work in their studies and are deserving of recognition for their accomplishments during the first semester.

Nancy Seiler, a special student, is also included in this group. There were no sophomores who received grades of "S" or better for the first semester.

Those who received grades averaging "S" are Irene Graham, Betty Anne Schulte, and Lillian Wright, seniors; Dale Donahue, Dean Duff, Curtis Gard, Dorothy Johnson, Ruth Meyers, and Mary Ruth New, juniors; J. D. Courtney, Esther Jean

Sigma Mu Delta Abolishes Hell Week

W. H. "Johnny" Davis, Eagleville, chairman, Frank Hayes, St. Joseph, Robert Mitchell, Skidmore, and Turner Tyson, Rockport. Mr. W. T. Garrett, chairman of the College department of biological science and sponsor of the group, was also appointed to the committee.

The local chapter adopted the measure following a lengthy discussion on the subject. The motion for the abolition of "Hell Week" was made by Frank Hayes, house manager of the fraternity.

The enactment came following a discussion of plans for "Hell Week" for the present pledges of the fraternity. The present pledge members would have taken "Hell Week" the first week-end following the opening of the Spring quarter. The measure becomes effective March 1, and will be a permanent policy with the fraternity.

Present pledges of the fraternity are: Joe Kurtright, Albany; Robert Taylor, Maryville; B. K. Lewis, Ravenwood; Beryl Weston Dickie, Maryville; Ivan Slagle, Ravenwood; and Bill McCurdy, Braddyville, Ia.

Holt said last week that the active chapter would place greater emphasis on the scholastic standing of men in the fraternity, and as far as meetings are concerned, greater emphasis would be placed on the ritual of the organization. Less emphasis would be placed on "hazing," he related.

Sentiment among Greek-letter fraternities throughout the nation has been, in recent years, toward the abolition of "Hell Week," and the local chapter is one of the first in the nation to adopt the measure.

TO SPONSOR ESSAY CONTEST ON PERSONNEL IN OFFICES

For the past year the National League of Women Voters, under the leadership of the national chairman of personnel, Mrs. George Gelhorn of St. Louis, has been carrying on a campaign to arouse interest in the need for trained personnel in public office.

Realizing the importance of students of high school age thinking along these lines, the Missouri League of Women Voters is conducting an essay contest at the time of Missouri Interscholastic Events the latter part of April. A first prize of fifteen dollars, and a second prize of ten dollars, will be given to the highest ranking high school students in the contest. The essay is to be written in an hour and a half on some phase of the Merit System in public service.

For material dealing with the general subject, prospective contestants are advised to write to the Missouri League of Women Voters, Hotel Kings-Way, St. Louis, Mo. For further information about the nature of the contest write to Professor Martin L. Faust, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo. The calendar of the University of Missouri Interscholastic Events will be sent to the high schools of the state.

Any encouragement and aid that the teachers of the state give their students in connection with this essay contest will be greatly appreciated by the Missouri League of Women Voters.

John L. Lewis, Jr. assured the registrar at Princeton University, where he is a freshman, that his father is an "executive."

NEW COURSE OFFERED IN HOME ECONOMICS

Miss Hettie M. Anthony, head of the home economics department of the College, will offer a new course the spring quarter which will be open to both men and women. This new course will be titled, Household Economics. Its objective is to teach students to be able to get a dollar's value for a dollar spent by knowing and determining qualities. The course should enable students to read advertisements intelligently and to discriminate between high pressure salesmanship and actual value.

Economics of the Household will be of junior rank and have as its prerequisites seven and a half hours of freshman social science or its equivalent.

Since the consumer's buying phase of economics and home economics is receiving much stress at the present time, this course should prove popular with both men and women students.

Another course in the home economics department in which men as well as women will be interested, and which will be open to both this spring, is the one on meal service. Miss June Cozine, new assistant in the department, will be the instructor.

STATE SCHOOL HEAD SPEAKS ON SCHOOLS

"There is a popular misconception that school costs are higher today than they have ever been before," Lloyd W. King, state superintendent of schools, said Monday night at an after dinner speech before the Maryville Parent Teacher's Association's forty-first anniversary of the founding of the organization at the Maryville high school building.

Local Costs Lower

Mr. King, who spoke with an optimistic outlook upon the modern educational advantages, had as his topic, "The Interpretative Function of the P. T. A."

"It is true that state distributing costs are higher," the superintendent said, "but the local costs are on the decline. For example, ten years ago our state spent $38,000,000 on the support of teachers and incidentals, while last year the total expenditures were only $37,000,000.

Parents Responsible

"Education is essential in a democracy," Mr. King continued. "It is a fundamental concern that we encourage education."

"It is sixteen times more likely that the child will receive his influence from the home than from the school. We must emphasize the importance of the responsibility that falls upon the parents and the home in the education of our children."

Educate for Service

"We shouldn't stress the money value to be received from an education. We are likely to make a mistake there. What we should stress is the increased service that an educated person is able to render to the people."

"As teachers we should incorporate into our teaching the ideas of personalness, fairness and vitalness," Mr. King concluded.

Contrary to popular belief, it is the co-ed and not the chorus girl who is holding most of the model jobs these days. Advertisers demand an intelligent animated face, which reflects a definite personality, as well as beauty and a stream-lined figure.

MISSOURIANS WANTED

The Northwest Missourian staff would like to complete its files of the paper. We will appreciate any old Green and White Couriers or Northwest Missourians you may have of the issues between 1915 and 1935.

Hash Slingers to Sponsor Dance

As a special attraction, Henry (Terrible) Turner, who heads the entertainment committee, announced that a floor show would be presented, including a "strip-tease" act direct from New York.

A trio of entertainers will be included in the floor show. Star, queen of taps (and a real queen, too), Baby, the sweetest singer that ever hit this school, and Dimples, strip-tease artist, will comprise the floor show.

Miss Ruth Villars, Residence Hall dietitian, Miss Mercedes Dunne and Mr. E. A. Davis will be chaperones at the dance.

Guest cards will be necessary for non-College students. Guest cards may be secured in the office of Margaret Ruth Smith, director of women's activities, before 5 o'clock Friday.

Following are the committees preparing for the affair: Decorations, Ermin Brown, chairman, G. L. Johnson and Harold Hutchins, business managers, Bill Bernz, Harold Penwell; entertainment, Henry Turner, chairman, Paul Tracy, Richard Shum, publicity, Joe Cofer, chairman; chaperone, Willis Goza, chairman, John Zuchowski; and floor committee, Ralph Kurtright. Guest list, Goslee and Dale Hackett. The entire membership in the Union will comprise the clean-up committee.

Creation of Life

The dividing of the nose and one-celled with the nose at the front of the body, was one of the highlights about which the scientist said, "You have seen before your own eyes the creation of life with the magic of microscopic life."

Showing several examples of physical phenomena as well as living organisms such as crystallization of salt, made many beautiful pictures on the screen. Dr. Roemmer told his lecture telling the audience that microscopy as a hobby is very valuable.

PRIZE OFFERED FOR PEACE PLAY

A first prize of $200.00 is being offered by the Religious Drama Council for the best one-act play on the subject of Peace. There are causes of peace, just as there are causes of war; there is a cost of peace, just as there is a cost of war. It is to stimulate thought and action on this timely subject that this contest is being sponsored.

The other awards will be: second prize, donated by Samuel French; third prize, $50.00, offered by Religious Drama Council; and fourth prize, a bronze medal, donated by Samuel French.

The contest is to open March 1, 1938 and close on July 1, 1938. Plays must be suitable for production in churches by children, young people or adults. The playing time must not exceed one hour. Judges will be chosen from the professional theater, educational drama and peace organizations. The prize winning play will be submitted to Samuel French for an offer of publication. For further information and copy of the rules, address: Religious Drama Council, 71 West 23rd St., New York City.

Washington and Lincoln, Humble Men. Understood Human Nature

A month of February contains the birth anniversaries of two of the greatest men of the United States. Abraham Lincoln was born Feb. 12, 1809, in a crude log cabin in a Kentucky wild-wood. George Washington was born Feb. 22, 1732, in a manor house in Virginia. Both have been accorded high honors. America gives them the distinction of having their birthdays as national holidays. They are men in our country who have made a distinction. We regard them as men, not gods.

Lincoln was a log hut to which he has been described as a pattern for shaping the many youths. Most of the nation's youth look to him to see wherein lay the path of life. Lincoln is not honored for material gains. He had high regard for the truth to them all. He was not ashamed of his honesty. He was not ashamed to do the necessary services of his rough his unselfish planning for the future welfare of all. Had he been a politician he would have spent his time to gaining personal at for being unashamed of and grateful for his birthplace and early rearing would some day claim a place of honor in America's hall of fame.

George Washington was of a different type of character. He was reared in a wealthy family possessing much family pride. His reserve grew out of his efforts to control a violent temper. He was always conscious of his caste but nevertheless, he often stooped to do menial service. Like Lincoln, he was able to understand human nature.

He first attracted attention by his ability to command. He proved his trustworthiness and courage by his mid-winter trip to the headwaters of the Ohio for Governor Denwelder. He was a man of honest service. One can find nothing in his record to show that he ever strove for personal gain in office or to "save face."

His foresight and vision were not developed until middle-age. He honestly thought that the American uprising would be crushed when he took charge of the army at the be-

I doubt that very many of the fathers and mothers of the great Middle West are desirous of sending their sons to die on foreign soil to safeguard the economic interests of American Corporations.

"But it is not enough merely to be opposed to war, because the world, today, is in a turmoil, and if we are going to keep our country out of war we cannot let things drift, but we must definitely set out to strengthen our peace machinery, and thereby eliminate the dangers of being involved in foreign wars.

Should Not Jeopardize

"In the first place, I believe that our men and ships should get out of the war zone in Asia before other 'incidents' occur. We should not jeopardize the safety and peace of one hundred thirty million citizens in order to protect some three thousand American businessmen who took a chance for the sake of large profits when they went to China. The Panay was sunk while giving protection to Standard Oil Company ships in Chinese waters. An incident like this can be prevented from occurring again by our country getting out of the war zone.

Need Clean-Cut Policy

"We need a clean-cut neutrality policy, so that American citizens will know just exactly what the attitude of our government would be when they insist on staying in war zones or in trading with belligerent nations.

"The Ludlow Amendment is not dead, and should be revived in the United States Senate in order that people may have a chance to express their views in sending their boys to die on foreign soil. If we take away the rights of the American people to express themselves on international issues, we have gone a long way in the direction of Fascism.

Based on Own Shores

"If we want to keep out of foreign wars, we should work out a clear-cut military policy which is based on defense of our own shores and not on defense of American interest abroad. If we want a slogan, let us have this one: No soldiers outside the United States, no battleship over one hundred miles from our shores and no airplane over one thousand miles from our country. If we insist on this kind of a military policy, there is no danger of being involved in foreign wars.

"The Hill-Sheppard Bill which is before Congress at the present time should be killed. This bill ostensibly was written to take the profits out of war, but in reality it does no such thing. On the other hand, it would foist on our country a military dictatorship the minute our country becomes involved in war. The Hill-Sheppard Bill paves the way for Fascism and is opposed to all ideals of democracy.

Economic Causes

"Everyone realizes that today the causes of war are to a great extent economic. One of the most effective means of keeping our country out of war is to extend our reciprocal trade agreements and thereby stimulate international trade and give the 'have-not' nations a right to existence. By lowering the tariff barriers, we will not only help other nations, but we will raise the standard of living of the American people.

"We must cooperate with the rest of the world in building a world community where peace and justice and goodwill shall reign. This cannot be done by entering into any military alliance with any country, but it can be done only through voluntary cooperation based on enlightened self-interest, because in the long run anything that makes for prosperity and happiness to all the nations of the world."

Ralph Hubbard Talks About Plains Indians

"Too many people are all wrong about our American Indians," Ralph Hubbard, worker in Indian lore, told a number of students and faculty last Thursday morning at an extra assembly in the College auditorium. "The Indian is our only landmark," Mr. Hubbard said, "and we should learn more about his habits and life before we can thoroughly understand the true Indian spirit."

Mr. Hubbard, who has direct contact with a great many Indians, said that his work was to try to do away with the many absurd ideas held by the average person about the Indians. "People ask such foolish questions as, 'Do all Indians use sign language, and what do they do with it when night comes?', Mr. Hubbard said.

Eagle Head-dress

The "New Deal" for the Indians Mr. Hubbard explained, is the "dishing up" of his old culture and bringing back his tribalisms and old historical living conditions. He went on during his talk to show some of the head dress worn by the Indians, gave a demonstration of how the sign language is used, and finished his talk by giving a series of wolf calls which were strikingly effective upon the audience as to their realism.

Most of the Indian headgear is made from eagle feathers Mr. Hubbard explained, although many of the bonnets are made from turkey feathers and porcupine fur. He explained how the stone for the making of the famed Indian peacepipe can be obtained from only one source in the world, which is at Pipestone, in southern Minnesota.

Danced with Indians

Bells are just as important on the feet of the Indian dancer as taps to the ballroom dancer in keeping rhythm Mr. Hubbard pointed out, with the bells on one foot having a different tone than those on the other one. Mr. Hubbard said that he danced three nights, including New Year's night, with the Indians this winter in celebration of the New Year.

The sign language story told by Hubbard was very cleverly done and interesting to follow. First he told the story with words and at the same time with the Indian sign language. Then repeated the same story using only the motion of his hands and body to convey the meaning.

Gives Wolf Calls

Mr. Hubbard ended his talk by giving some wolf calls which lent a weird and uncanny atmosphere to the room. His first call was the mocking of a lone wolf on a high hill howling at the rising of the yellow September moon, large as a washtub; the second of the same wolf, same place, on a November night with a light snow and the cold landscape with a pale moon the size of a bucket; and the third that of the same wolf at the same place on a sub-zero January night, hungry and angry, with the moon small and high and colored blue.

An interesting quotation from Mr. Hubbard's talk was this: "Little boys are much the same as little dogs. I feel sorry for a boy who grows up without a little dog."

Dr. VanDevander Talks to Y.M.-Y.W.

Dr. D. J. Van Devander, pastor of the Maryville First Methodist church, spoke last Thursday evening at a joint meeting of the Y.M. and Y.W.C.A. in recreation room. Dr. Van Devander's talk was the third of a series of a group of meetings being conducted by the two religious organizations on the study of the personality of Jesus Christ. "There were problems during the day of Jesus," Dr. Van Devander said, "which we do not realize today as ever having existed. But they were not so different from ours."

Speaks of Temptations

In speaking of the temptations that Jesus had to face, the Methodist pastor continued by saying that "Jesus was concerned with the needs of his people, and since every great leader has been concerned with the needs of his people, this was one of the first temptations that He had to face."

"Jesus wanted to help the people and save the world," he said, "but He was not to do this by the powers of His Father in bringing aid through material means. Jesus was to save their souls."

Realizes Commission

"Jesus was tempted to make a display of his power that came from God, before the people by setting up a great Kingdom of God on the earth by performing a great miracle. But Jesus could not do this at all. He was far above doing that."

"Perhaps His greatest temptation was to make Himself ruler over the world. Jesus realized His commission. He realized that He was to bear the cross."

"Jesus' character was built around a few great principles, namely, unselfishness, bearing His cross, thinking of others, sacrifice and love."

GRADE SCHOOL OPERETTA PRESENTED TONIGHT

The intermediate grades of the College elementary school will present the "Adventures of Pinocchio," an operetta in three acts based on Collodi's Italian story, at 8 o'clock tonight and at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the College auditorium.

Miss Mary E. Keith is director of the operetta, Miss Helen Crahan has charge of the music, Miss Eileen Logan of the dancing, Miss Alline Fentress of the orchestra, and Dr. J. P. Kelly is in charge of the stage setting. The College elementary school orchestra will play a group of selections during the performances.

The story is of a marionette, called Pinocchio, made by Geppetto, an Italian wood-carver, which comes to life, and after passing through many adventurous affairs, the marionette is finally swallowed by the giant dog fish. The climax of the story comes, however, when Pinocchio is changed into a real boy and "lives happily ever after."

In the Kindergarten room much interest is shown in the Fire Department. It began with borrowing a toy fire truck. A visit was made to the city Fire Department, and since then pupils have built a fire station, made ladders, firemen's hats and an oatmeal box fire hydrant. Safety measures have been taught in this study.

The first grade, in relation to their study of the cow and milk products, have made cottage cheese and completed a story of that lesson.

The second grade students are planning a Valentine party and in their art period are making Valentines to exchange.

In their Pioneer unit the third grade students have finished making two chairs and tallow candles. Last Tuesday they painted the bed for their Pioneer Cabin. In the back of the room is a frieze of Pioneer life. The girls are making braided rugs for the floors, and each pupil keeps a booklet of the stories he writes for each lesson.

Finger painting is being taught in this room. This is done by dampening the paper and working with fingers the paint, which is very much like cold cream.

He was silent and somewhat taciturn during the last years of his life, partly because of ill-health and a noisy set of false teeth that must have irked his pride.

Washington was not the outstanding statesman of his day but shared the distinction with many others. These men were unusually clear thinkers and they recorded their thoughts concisely. C. C.

follows the dollar and that those who make investments in foreign countries because of the high returns on their money must do so at their own risk and not expect the United States government to send ships to defend their interests?

Impossible to Attack

"If our government becomes involved in a war with any foreign country, it will be because our foreign policy will be such that we must send men and ships to foreign countries to fight, because, according to military experts, it is impossible for any foreign country to effectively attack the United States, either now or during any period that can be foreseen. Among the military experts who take this stand are men of such outstanding experience as Gen. William C. Rivers, Gen. Johnson Hagood, Gen. Smedley D. Butler, Admiral Sims, Admiral Yarnell, and Admiral Phelps. These men point out that no country could possibly land a military force in our country, because at the present time we have ample military and naval forces to prevent their coming to our shores.

Not Enough to Oppose

"This means that if we are going to have war, we must seek it abroad.

Buddy Rogers to Select Tower Queens

J. C. Harbour, secretary for "Buddy" Rogers, wrote the following letter of acceptance on behalf of the movie star and orchestra leader:

"I am in receipt of your letter requesting Mr. Buddy Rogers to judge your beauty queens for 1938.

"Mr. Rogers readily consented to do so, and wishes me to convey his appreciation.

"Please be advised that we will be here only two more weeks, therefore it is necessary that you send the pictures as soon as possible."

Rogers' dance band is at present playing in the Hotel Sherman in Chicago. Fred Davidson forwarded the pictures of the queen nominees to the popular young American spot-light star last Monday evening after they had been exhibited in a show case at the College that afternoon.

The queens will be introduced at the annual "Scoop Dance," to be sponsored March 11 by the staffs of The Northwest Missourian and The Tower.

The Tower heads also received a letter last Monday from Ralph Ringwald, secretary to Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, from Los Angeles, Calif.

The letter said, in part:

"On behalf of Mr. Bergen and 'Charlie,' I acknowledge and thank you for your telegram of February 2 requesting that 'Charlie' select the beauty queens for your college yearbook. Mr. Bergen has been out of the city for several days and consequently the answer to your telegram has been delayed.

"Answering your inquiry, it is with real regret that I must advise you that it will not be possible for 'Charlie' to select your campus beauty queens. Mr. Bergen has had numerous similar requests from colleges and universities throughout the country, and much as he would like to accept all of them, it is impossible for him to do so as his radio and motion picture work keep him more than busy.

"Mr. Bergen asks that I express to you his sincere appreciation for the interest in him and 'Charlie.' You may be sure that 'Charlie' is inconsolable by being denied the opportunity to select the beautiful and charming young women on your campus."

Beauty queen candidates, as nominated some time ago by the various College classes, include: Virginia Thomas and Bernice Murray, freshmen; Lois Moore and Margaret Wurster, sophomores; Marie Holding and Lois McCartney, juniors; and Mary Powell and Elizabeth Planck, seniors.
